

PROFHILO BODY

WHAT IS IT?

PROFHILO® is a patented technology of bio-remodelling injectable. It is an “injectable skincare” that addresses skin laxity and signs of aging through the bio-stimulation of collagen, elastin and adipocytes (fats) stem cells that are lost through skin aging. It contains Stabilized Hybrid Cooperative Complexes (HCC) of high and low molecular weight Ultrapure Hyaluronic Acid in high concentration, and is produced with a unique thermal production process patented by IBSA, the NAHYCO® Technology.

PROFHILO® BODY contains the same ingredients as PROFHILO® in a bigger 3ml syringe for in-clinic treatment. It is designed to be a complete treatment kit that targets skin laxity on the body.

PROFHILO® BODY works through a corrective action and increases skin hydration, restores elastic fibers and collagen structure in the dermis, and aids the dermal tissue repair process and improves skin laxity.

It is most commonly used for tissue remodelling and improvement in skin laxity for the arms and abdomen areas.

It is also indicated to help restore skin elasticity and hydration following in-clinic treatments.
